Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-24 and 34-49 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance.

In claim 1 applicant has claimed an apparatus for the continual production of lipid vesicles comprised of the following elements: a lipid phase storage means and a first pressurized transfer means for transferring the lipid phase from storage; an aqueous phase storage means and a second pressurized transfer means for transferring the aqueous phase from storage; a mixing device; and a dispensing means for transferring the mixed formulation from the mixing chamber. The mixing device is comprised of a first metering system for receiving the lipid phase from the first pressurized transfer means, a second metering system for receiving the aqueous phase from the second pressurized transfer means, a third pressurized transfer means for transferring the lipid phase from the first metering system to the first inlet of the pre-mixing system, a fourth pressurized transfer means for transferring the aqueous phase from the second metering system to the second inlet of the pre-mixing system, and a mixer with optional optical detector and ultrasonic energy source. The Examiner considers the reference "Baker" (6,534,018) to be the closest prior art. This reference was previously used to reject claims 1-25. This rejection has been overcome by the submission of a Terminal Disclaimer.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

3. The Examiner wishes to clarify an error in the previous Office Action. In the previous Action, the Examiner rejected the instant claims under an obviousness-type Double Patenting rejection with the reference identified as U.S. Patent No. 4,781,871. This was an error since the actual U.S. Patent No. in the rejection should have been 6,534,018. The Examiner thanks applicant for noticing the error and taking the appropriate steps to correct the error with both the submission of the Terminal Disclaimer and the current response that accompanied it.
